Nathalie is a thirty-something Parisian woman with a simple and joyous life. She likes her job at the local hospital, adores hanging out with her colleagues and is about to move in with the man she loves. But one night, everything changes in a matter of minutes.

In France, one woman in ten under the age of twenty has been the victim of some kind of sexual abuse. More than 150,000 women a year are raped or have been subject of rape attempts. In 80% of cases, the perpetrator is a person the victim knows, which helps explain why only 11% of the victims go to the police.

Self-financed and shot with incredible energy, Behind Closed Doors has been a labor of love for its director, cast and crew.
